FIREPLACE MANTELS INSPIRED BY THE MORSE-LIBBY MANSION, A NATIONAL HISTORIC LANDMARK IN PORTLAND, MAINE

THE VICTORIA MANSION is a treasured Portland landmark, but its significance extends far beyond Maine. Distinguished for its architecture and its extraordinary original interiors, it is among the most important historic homes of the nineteenth century anywhere in the nation.

To decorate his summer retreat, New Orleans Hotelier, Ruggles Morse contracted with Gustave Herter, a German-trained cabinetmaker and interior designer who immigrated to New York City in 1848. Herter Brothers, which he founded, was to become the most influential design firm in the United States during the second half of the nineteenth century. Victoria Mansion is the only Herter commission that survives intact.

Among the many glories of the house are six hand-carved marble fireplaces. Cornerstone Architectural Products' Victoria Mansion Collection is inspired by these beautiful ornate mantels. We feel privileged to bring them to you to enjoy in your own home. And a portion of every sale goes to support the continuing care and restoration of the Victoria Mansion.
